A GREENBACK'S STORY.

A WELL WRITTEN OUTLINE OF THE CAREER OF A SPECIMEN OF THE "BATTLE BORN AND BLOOD STAINED" CURRENCY, THE BEST CURRENCY THE WORLD EVER SAW AND THE OBJECT OF LOGAN'S AND MORTON'S WORSHIP.

A writer in the Chicago Tribune says: "Since Douglas Jerrold wrote his pathetic 'Story of a Feather,' it has been the fashion to sketch the fortunes of the inanimate objects which circulate rapidly from hand to hand among men. Why is it that no one has yet written the story of a greenback? It would be full of interesting contrasts. Imagine the green paper pressed upon the engraved plates, and then quivering under the meteoric signature of General Spinner. The oblong product of rags and lamp black is now—money. An almighty Congress has reduced the almighty dollar to this.

The bit of paper goes into the Treasury vaults, that whisper to it of the time when they held gold. It is paid out, in a huge bundle of its fellows, to a contractor who has been furnishing shoddy to our army, then lying before Vicksburg. Plucked out of the bundle and placed in his pocketbook, it travels to the front, whither he goes to see a general who is his silent and sinful partner. A battle begins. Our troops are routed. The scared contractor waves his money in his fingers, offering it all for a chance to ride to safety. The Confederate cavalry dash down upon him. He is caught, stripped, and sent to the rear. This particular greenback is dropped on the battle field. Have groans, robbers of the dead, and monotonous moral reflections on the horrors of war may be inserted in great profusion. A wounded man, clutching the ground in his last agony, unconsciously picks up the bill, His stiffened fingers close upon it the moment of death. A prowler cuts it out of his dead hand. A doctor, searching for the wounded, detects the thief in the act and fines him the amount of the bill, which he appropriates to his own use.

A few days afterwards a contagious disease attacks him in the hospital. He dies, bequeathing his effects to his betrothed. Here can come a sketch of a lovely heroine, Southern type of beauty, loved by stalwart slaves, who have sworn to stay by her in her loneliness and defend 'young missus' from harm. They do so—until the Federal army is near enough to make flight safe. Lovely heroine receives effects of dead doctor; presses each article to her ruby (or coral) lips; kisses the greenback with especial fervor, reflecting that she can now buy a parasol; inhales infection from it; and dies with as much pathos as Little Nell. The death must, however, be rapid, in order that the bill may flutter to the floor and be at once picked up by Pompey, the faithful slave, who is thus rewarded for his single devotion to his young mistress. Pompey disappears ere morning with the greenback. After an interval of some years during which the bill sees various phases of Southern life, runs the blockade, is captured at sea, and brought to the North, it reappears as a vote persuader in the South Carolina legislature. Once inured to this work it plays a prominent part in Washington. It attends the Credit Mobilier investigation, bid in the pocket of the 'statesman' it has bribed, and hears that ornament of our country declare that he is utterly innocent, and that the sudden swelling of his bank account at the time when Credit Mobilier dividends were declared was caused by generous donations from unknown but loving friends. He afterwards gives the bill to the temperance cause (the crusade being very strong in his district). It is paid out for crusade printing, and is next laid on a counter in payment for whiskey. It falls into the hands of a Communist, who makes a wild speech on the tyranny of capital and the injustice of interest that night, and the next day lends the bill to a fellow working man at 10 per cent. a month. It vibrates between hovels and palaces, between innocence and vice. It helps pay a salary grabber. It is waved in the sacred atmosphere of the Senate Chamber by an eloquent orator, who decants upon its blood sealed beauties, and calls for the issue of millions like unto it.

It tells the story of 1850, and closes it by saying: 'In 1900 I was presented at the Treasury counter, but the clerk said that so many millions like me had been printed that the country never could pay them off, and that the wise men of the land had therefore decreed that gold should not be used, but that all the paper issued should be kept in circulation, and should be based on the faith of the nation. Then my owner stated he had taken me some years before for a bad debt, and had been trying ever since to get rid of me, but nobody would give him the smallest thing for me. "Well, yes," said the clerk, "the fact is that the bills have been—repudiated. Sad, very, but a necessity." So my country has robbed me," quoth my master. And this is the reason why my present possessor, who is a collector of worthless odds and ends, has a French assignat and a Confederate shinplaster and a Continental bill on the page of his album that he holds me."

WHAT IT IS TO BE FRIENDLESS.

Peter Hines told me the story. On a cold Winter's day his stage took five passengers from Meredith for the route toward Conway. As the snow was deep, and the travelling slow, they were forced to stop at Tamworth for supper. As the passengers gathered around the cheerful fire, blazing away in an old-fashioned, open fire-place, they found a dog—an ill-looking, shaggy cur—occupying the most comfortable place by the chimney-corner, but thinking him the property of the landlord they did not disturb him.

By and by the host entered with a retund decanter and half a dozen glasses, and as he approached the fire for the purpose of drawing hot water from the kettle that hung steaming from the crane, he observed the dog.

"Fine dog that of yours, sir," he said nodding to the guest who sat nearest that corner.

"The dog is not mine, sir." was the answer.

"Ah,—yours, sir? A fine animal," turning to the next passenger.

"Not mine, I assure you."

"Intelligent face, very. He is yours, sir?" to passenger number three.

"No, sir."

"He knows when he's comfortable. Belongs to you, sir?"

Number four, thus addressed, emphatically denied the ownership.

"Must be yours, then, sir?—a valuable dog, no doubt."

"No, sir," answered the last of the party. "I don't fancy dogs;" and if I did, I think I should select a different one from that."

The landlord turned upon the friendless cur with a jump.

"Whough! You ill-looking, dirty, miserable, contemptible, sneaking whelp—get out of this!"

And with a vigorous kick the host sent the ill-fated animal yelping out of doors.

Col. Richard Tenbroeck, a well known horse owner, was shot and reported mortally wounded at Gilman's Station, Kentucky, Saturday evening by Gen. Walker Whittaker, a lawyer of Louisville. The particulars are not known. Whittaker has already killed two men and is regarded as a desperate character.

THE DAY.

The Alabama Democrats have declared in favor of white civilization and New York merchants report a brisk gun trade with the South.

The press are trying to act on sound advice and get the best,—Moulton's unabridged, but neither his unabridged nor his abridged statements are accessible. To appease the public appetite for information the papers have published Mrs. Tilton's private letters to her husband as the best thing they could do under the circumstances.

There is another Brooklyn scandal, but we are happy to say that Mr. Compromise Moulton has nothing to do with it, consequently it can be settled. This scandal is in the insane asylum where several of the participants in the other affair ought to be incarcerated. The inmates have been shockingly ill fed and no attempts to preserve decency and cleanliness have been made. Several keepers have been discharged and a thorough reform is promised.

---

Goldsmith Maid has trotted a mile in two minutes and fourteen and three quarter seconds which is about three fourths of second faster than her recent wonderful exploit and is the fastest time on record. The aggregate amount of happiness in the universe is supposed to be immensely enhanced by this great performance. The Maid is seventeen years old and her owner, Mr. Henry N. Smith, of New York, considered her worth over one hundred thousand dollars before her last feat.

"White Men to the Front!" is the way the Straight Democrats of Illinois begin their call for a state convention. These are very straight Democrats, they are going straight to the dogs. They are the petrified relics of a remote age and have less excuse for meddling with the affairs of the present than have their "straight" brothren of Alabama and Louisiana. It is painfully true that the colored people of the southern states have not yet proved themselves to be valuable citizens, but all white people are not intelligent, virtuous, patriotic and self sacrificing. The white men's governments have done little in the past to recommend these to the public favor. In South Carolina and other states where the colored people constitute a large portion of the population there is some excuse for the organization of white men's parties, but in Illinois the cry of "White men to the front!" is simply ludicrous.

Some wags are amusing themselves with a story, that on a recent trip to the Isles of Shoals, he by mistake exchanged his valise for that of a dancing-master, and the dapper fellow's wardrobe not being just the thing for a poet, he was obliged to return it.

......Very naturally, foreign nations are confused as to the seat of our government. The Washington correspondent of the Boston Post says that the new Austrian minister, Baron Schwarz-Senborn, who has just arrived in Washington, is reported to have asked, while in New York, whether he should go to Long Branch or Washington to pay his respects to the President and to present his credentials.

......Preston Powers, the artist, has been visiting at Woodstock, Vt., where his father Hiram Powers, the sculptor, was born. He is now the guest of Senator Morill at Strafford. ......Making the circuit of the globe has become a mere pastime. Stephen C. Massett, known by the cognomen of "Jeems Pipes," according to the Bee, a San Francisco paper, has begun his second tour round the world as an imitator and a reciter of comic stories, interspersed with ballads. He began his professional tour with a brilliant audience, a varid programme and lavish applause, so that he may be said to have started under favorable auspices.

ROCK ME TO SLEEP.

MRS. ALLEN OBJECTS TO THE TREATMENT SHE HAS RECEIVED FROM THE UBIQUITUS NEWSPAPER CORRESPONDENT.—SHE POINTS OUT SOME SLIGHT INACCURACIES IN THE DESCRIPTIONS OF HER.

This is the way Mrs. Elizabeth Akers Allen expresses her feelings in a letter to the editor of the New York World:—

SIR: In your paper of July 25 I notice the following item of news, contained in the letter of a special correspondent at Augusta, Me:

Mrs. Elizabeth Akers Allen, equally well known as "Florence Percy," is at present editorially connected with the Portland Advertiser. She is the author of "Rock Me to Sleep, Mother," which poem was written by her while a factory girl in this State, upon the sheet of coarse brown wrapping paper in which she had brought her noon time lunch, and while waiting for the hour to recommence labor.

The careful particularity of detail visible in this bit of news gives it a smack of authenticity which is almost irresistibly convincing. In fact, I could almost believe it myself, had I not been previously informed by an equally veracious newspaper correspondent that I wrote the poem by the bedside of my dying little boy, in Boston, when, under the heaviest pressure of misfortune and poverty, I was earning a pinched living for him and myself by doing slopwork without a sewing machine. I was naturally enough surprised at this, for I never lived in Boston, I never did slopwork without a sewing machine, I never earned my little boy's living, I never wrote verses at his bedside, my little boy never died, and I never had a little boy. Still I did not dispute the story, for I consider contradiction as suggestive of ill-breeding, and an alternative to the employed only in extremities. And it was as well that I did not, for I was presently assured through the same channel that I wrote the poem out of the lowest debths of poverty and despair, caused by the desertion of my husband, with whom I had eloped from boarding school, and who had repaid my devotion by forsaking me the next day. Notwithstanding the unusual brevity of my matrimonial career, and the fact that I had previously been the idol of a happy home, his desertion appears to have left me in utter wretchedness and imminent danger of starvation, under which depressing circumstances I wrote the poem referred to—a remorseful lament for the mother whose heart I had broken. This view was scarcely less unhappy than the former, and would have affected me deeply, excepting that I never was invited to elope from boarding school. I never eloped from anywhere. I never attended boarding school. My husband never deserted me, and I never broke my mother's heart. But I was drawn away from the mournful contemplation of these things by a third statement, to the effect that I wrote the poem on my death-bed in Philadelphia, in a wretched hovel, where the rain drifted in across the miserable bed whereon I soon afterward breathed my last.

This was the best story of the three, because it was conclusive—it put the unfortunate writer out of her misery. But just as I commenced to exult over this consummation, a Jersey gentleman, Mr. Alexander M. W. Ball, found another world to conquer, and published a book to prove that I never wrote the poem at all, but had stolen it from him. What was I to believe ? I had at different times been informed that a Miss Elizabeth Alger of New York City, another lady out West, a gentleman somewhere else, and a blacksmith in Georgia, each wrote the poem, and each had friends to swear to it; and, as though the affair was not already sufficiently bewildering, here comes a voice of conviction from my own state, declaring through the World that I wrote the poem myself when I was a factory girl in Maine. This is all very well, excepting that I never carried my lunch in "coarse brown wrapping paper," very much prefering a newspaper when I cannot afford a napkin; that I should scorn to write such verses on brown paper obscured by fragments of custard pie and apple sauce, and that I was never inside a factory in Maine. Like the culprit in court, whose case was so pathetically presented to the jury as to touch even himself to tears, I must admit that I did not know I have suffered so much until informed of it by the sympathetic newspaper correspondent.

For journals and journalists I have a sincere respect, and even a family affection; but what offence have I ever committed against that ubiquitous person, the newspaper correspondent, that in all his flights of fancy he invariably describes me as in the depths of poverty, distress and disgrace, and incapable of earning a respectable living. Why does he not say, sometimes, by way of variety, that I wrote the poem in a fine residence on Murray Hill, in a palatial mansion on Fifth avenue, in the midst of the regal rectangularity of Philadelphia, or in a vine clad country seat on the Hudson. Why not, instead of calling me a pauper, a disobedient daughter, a discarded wife, a starving sewing woman, or a wretched factory operative with her lunch wrapped in coarse brown paper (that is the unkindest cut of all), why not allow me sometimes to be a favorite fortune, a lady of fashion, or—if it be not too much to ask—a newspaper correspondent?

One or two things is proven by these melancholy recitals of my impecuniosity; for with all these—and other—demands in my behalf on the public sympathy, I have never yet received the first offer of assistance from philanthropists. Either the advantages of advertising are over stated, or the children of this world do not believe in the newspapers.

I make this faint protest against the irrepressible newspaper correspondent simply from a lingering instinct of self defence, and not because I expect to convince him, against whom gods and men contend in vain.
ELIZABETH AKERS ALLEN.

—The Unitarian fair last night was wel attended and liberally patronized. The ladies of the society made the occasion a very enjoyable one to all who were present.

—Mr. M. Howland's horse ran away with the carriage on William street yesterday, but neither the coachman nor the occupants were thrown out and the carriage was not injured. The horse was hurt.

—The ladies of the United Congregational Church are holding a fair today at the Osborn House, Church street. The display of fancy goods, useful and ornamental, is excellent and visitors are waited on in the most charming manner. The Osborn House ought to be crowded all day.

—The Artillery Veteran Association, Col. Sayer commanding and thirty five men, with the Newport band, Prof. Smith leader and twenty five men, left this city at 11 o'clock by the Day Star for their annual excursion to Rocky Point. They will return at a quarter past eight this evening.

—This morning a phaeton umbrella whose bosom was filled with lofty aspirations broke loose from its fastenings and soared aloft in quest of Donaldson's balloon or the Ross child. The spectators liked the fun, but the owner of the ambitious parachute didn't.

—There is a George Newton, a white man, who is as unlike the George Newton who was arrested the other day in character as he is in complexion. Both of the George Newtons were formerly of Newport and both returned here from Boston the same day and these coincidences have proved very embarrassing to the good George Newton. It is hardly necessary to explain that it was the bad George Newton who was arrested for forgery.

THE YACHT RACE.

Yesterday was an excellent day for the yacht race and it was duly appreciated. Some were disappointed that the race was to occur as they wished to attend the pigeon shooting, but the rules of the club were enforced and accordingly the competing yachts were put in readiness and before noon they were on their way to Block Island. The course was from an imaginary line from Fort Adams to the Dumpling Rocks and around a buoy at Block Island and return, the race to be a handicap and to be made in eight hours. The following is

THE START:—

| SCHOONERS. | H. | M. | S. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Magic | 11 | 39 | 20 |
| Wanderer | 11 | 41 | 55 |
| Rambler | 11 | 42 | 30 |
| SLOOPS. | | | |
| Vision | 11 | 38 | 30 |
| Gracie | 11 | 39 | 05 |
| Arrow | 11 | 30 | 50 |
| Vindex | 11 | 39 | 38 |

The wind was fresh from the southwest and so continued until the end of the race and which gave the yachts an excellent opportunity to appear to a good advantage. The Magic, which was the first to cross the line, continued to keep the lead until the close and thus won the schooner prize. The Gracie kept her position in advance of the others of her class and won the prize for sloops.

THE RETURN.

| SCHOONERS. | H. | M. | S. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Magic | 6 | 17 | 05 |
| Rambler | 6 | 23 | 30 |
| Wanderer | 6 | 31 | 35 |
| SLOOPS. | | | |
| Vision | 6 | 39 | 15 |
| Gracie | 6 | 13 | 05 |
| Arrow | 6 | 28 | 10 |
| Vindex | 6 | 47 | 55 |

The prizes were two valuable cups. This morning the fleet started on a scrub race to Martha's Vineyard and will return here, probably, and disband.

It is not high crimes, such as robbery and murder, which destroy the peace of society. The village gossip, family quarrels, jealousies, and bickerings between neighbors, meddlesomeness, and tattling, are the worms which eat into all social happiness.

FOR THE SUMMER.

* * Long Branch has a great future.

* * The height of fashion—Mount Washington.

* * The hotel "season" ends in four weeks.

* * Supper is the full-dress meal at Saratoga.

* * Cape May is a failure: The hotels not near full.

* * The Old Guards will rendezvous at Long Branch.

* * A. T. Stewart's Grand Union Hotel at Saratoga is to be enlarged.

* * The Green Mountains of Vermont are being extensively climbed.

* * The Ocean House, Long Branch, is having heavy lists of arrivals daily.

* * The Saratoga season is becoming more and more profitable to hotel men.

* * Governor Hendricks was last week at the Virginia White Sulphur Springs.

* * The Van Ness House, at Whitestone, L. I., is commended for economy and comfort.

* * The Wentworth at New Castle, N. H., is enjoying a very successful first season.

* * A visitor says that the dogs in Long Branch are too numerous for comfort or even for safety.

* * It is computed that no less than thirty-three new Summer resorts have been opened for the first time this year.

* * La Tourette House, Bergen Point, seems unsteady and unsuccessful. It changed hands again last week.

* * There will be another meeting at Monmouth park in August and several famous horses have been entered.

* * An island with the euphonious name of "Smutty Nose" is where the sportsmen of Maine congregate about this time.

* * Watch Hill has four hotels, the respective proprietors of which are continually on the watch for Summer boarders.

* * The "grasshopper walk" has succeeded the "Boston dip" at the seaside and springs.

* * Jay Gould is at the Memphremagog House, Newport, Vt., with his family. Edward Pierrepont is also there.

* * Loring Andrews, of Chicago, and Richard Wood and family, of New York, are at Lake Luzerne, Warren county.

* * Thousands who in past years repaired to high-priced fashionable resorts have settled in Long Island towns. Indeed, Long Island is alive with city folk.

* * The bathing at Swampscott is excellent, the water deepening gradually and being considerably warmer than at Long Branch.

* * "Have you had a bath this morning?" asks Jones of Mrs. Fussandfeathers. "Why, you impertinent puppy," says Mrs. F., oblivious to the fact that poor Jones meant a surf bath.

* * Hingham, Hull and Nantasket Beach seem to hold their popularity as Summer resorts, as the crowds of "regulars" on the morning and evening boats are very large.

* * Noble lords are scarce at the watering place hotels, and a cruel Western man accounts for it on the ground that it was not time for the barbers to take their Summer vacation.

* * A hotel kept in good style is needed at Budd's Lake, N. J., and would "pay." The country is magnificent; the scenery wild and picturesque, and the lake, miles long, clear as crystal.

* * Hopatcong and Musconetcong are the names of two very pretty and picturesque pieces of water in the state of New Jersey. The first is in Morris and the second in Warren county.

* * A correspondent of the Boston Journal reports Summer travel in the White Mountains very light so far. The Profile House, Franconia Mountains, alone appears to be prosperous.

* * On Saturday evening a musical and dramatic entertainment was given at the Pavilion, New Brighton, by the Ninth Regiment band and attaches of the Fifth Avenue Theatre.

* * The railway companies are gradually burrowing into the White Mountains and reducing stage travel. It is believed that next season the roads will extend clear through Crawford's Notch to the Twin Mountain connection.

* * The Grand View House, at Morristown, N. J., is situated on the Watrung Mountain, and so popular has it become the house has had to be enlarged this season, and cottages erected. It is a private family hotel, and has no bar. Bret Harte passed the Summers of 1872 and '73 at the Grand View House. He is now residing hard by, in his own cottage.

* * The season at Lake Luzerne "the gateway of the Adirondacks," is now a settled success, and the hotels are in the full tide of prosperity. Since last Summer various improvements have been made in the surroundings of lake and village, and some new cottages have been built.

* * Very satisfactory reports come from people who are passing the Summer at Hotel Fenimore, in Cooperstown, N. Y. They say the table is well furnished, the house admirably kept throughout, and the rate for board only three dollars per day, with a reduction to families and permanent guests.

* * On Thursday last, there were 170 guests at the Fabyan House, White Mountains; Saturday found 270 guests at the Kiarsarge House, North Conway, and the day before, there were seventy three arrivals at the Crawford House. The other houses in this region are all well patronized.

* * The Boston and Maine Railroad Company have employed a band of music to accompany the steamer Mount Washington on the daily trips over Lake Winnipesaukee to Wolfboro' and Centre Harbor. The band remains until the close of the season.

* * If you are going to Schooley's Mountain or Deleware Gap, select the later afternoon train from New York. The stages at Hackettstown wait for this train; secondly, it goes via Boonton branch, through a picturesque and beautiful mountainous country; the other route, on the Morris and Essex division, is, by comparison, flat and uninteresting.

* * A gentleman stopping at the Lake Mahopac, who has travelled extensively, writes to the Home Journal:—At no American watering-place have I ever seen such a profusion of flowers and such extensive and finely-shaped grounds around the hotels. The lawn of the Gregory House is one large parterre of beautiful exotics, looking more like the highly-cultivated surroundings of an elegant country-seat than the appointments of a public hotel.

* * Old Orchard is busying itself over a romance. The son of a wealthy Boston merchant has been at the sea-shore several weeks, and during that time, it is said, has contrived to fall deeply in love with a very pretty, modest and intelligent waiter girl at one of the beach houses. The affair is said to be settled, and a marriage is on the cards. The matter creates much interest, and the handsome couple attract the attention of all.

* * A correspondent writing from Fire Island says: "You may fancy that at this sea-girt barracks the table must be queer. Try it, and you will find all the luxuries of inland hotel life, and many that the dwellers on land rarely procure, with no greasy waiters of African or any other descent to shock you by their clumsiness, but a host of trim American girls to attend upon you—quick and attentive. Well, it's only a sand bank, after all, but Fire Island is a glorious one.

* * A writer in the Boston Transcript from the Saranac Lake region, New York, says:—"I have stood with one foot each side a little pool and drank from water which on the right hand, to the south, flowed to the Hudson River and the Atlantic Ocean, at New York city, and on the opposite side lent its waters to the Ausable River and the Gulf of St. Lawrence. For picturesque beauty and sylvan loveliness there is no region to compare with this great wilderness. To the sportsman it has been a paradise, and to the tourist it is destined to be an unfailing source of enjoyment and health-restoring pleasure."

DR. BICKNELL'S SYRUP Cures Bowel or Summer Complaints. Being composed largely of Brandy, Spices and simple astringents, without a particle of Opiate, has proved after a 25 years' trial superior to any other article for Dysentery, Diarrhœa, Cholera-Morbus, Cholera-Infantum, Colic, Cramp, Sick or Sour Stomach, Sea-Sickness, Dyspepsia, &c., and may be implicitly relied upon in the most severe cases, yet so simple and pleasant that it may be given the most delicate infant. It acts upon the system like water on a wilted plant.

Milk of Magnesia, is something entirely new. It is employed in all cases where Magnesia is beneficial, and being rendered free from the deleterious tendencies of calcined and other magnesias is far preferable, and is very valuable in infancy, as from its agreeable taste and milk-like smoothness, children will take it when they cannot be induced to take anything else. Inviting Sickness.

A belief that violent purgation is the surest remedy for every human ailment prevails to a lamentable extent among some classes of the community. It might be thought that the languid, the debilitated, the depressed, would know instinctively that their systems need toning, invigorating and regulating with some wholesome stimulant and alterative, and that a fierce cathartic is as unsuited to their condition as a strong dose of active poison would be to a man already laboring under the effects of some deleterious drug. In all cases of physical weakness, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters should be promptly resorted to by the invalid. The operation of this inestimable vegetable restorative is three-fold. It vitalizes and reinforces the depressed nervous system, while at the same time it regulates the digestive and secretive organs and keeps the bowels free. Debility is often the forerunner of an attack of some acute disease, and to prostate the strength still more by securing the bowels with a drastic evacuant at such a juncture is to invite the immediate onset of the impending disorder, and render the system incapable of contending with it. On the other hand, a course of the Bitters, commenced as soon as the symptoms of general debility manifest themselves, will in nine cases out of ten prevent the threatened attack and thoroughly restore the bodily strength of the patient. The cases of dyspepsia, liver complaint, constipation, dysentery, diarrhœa, rheumatism and periodical fevers would be comparitively few if this unequalled invigorating and regulating medicine were always resorted to as a cure for the bodily weakness and loss of vital energy which usually precede these complaints, and are, indeed, as a general rule, the precursors of nearly all acute and dangerous disorders.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Possible Embarrassment with China.

WASHINGTON, August 12.

The participation of certain officers of the United States service in the movements of the Japanese government against the inhabitants of the island of Formosa, is likely to cause some embarrassment between our government and that of China. The latter claims to have jurisdiction of the island of Formosa and its people and any proceedings on the part of American citizens of an unfriendly or belligerent character against said island or people is a violation of neutrality. One of the officers connected with the Formosa expedition is Lieut. Douglas Cassel of the navy. Gen. L. Gendre, an Ex-United States consul, is also attached to it.

The Treasury Exhibit.

Balances in the Treasury today were: Currency, $15,561,893; special deposits of legal tenders for the redemption of certificates of deposit, $59,085,000; coin, $71,920,306, including $32,906,700 in coin certificates; outstanding legal tenders, $382,000,000.

From the Black Hills Expedition.

The following dispatch was received at the headquarters of the army this morning:

CHICAGO, August 12.

Gen. Wm. T. Sherman, Washington:

Col. Custer's command was, when last heard from, August 3d, at Heiney's Peak. It would commence the return march August 11th. The command is in excellent health.

(Signed) P. H. SHERIDAN,
Lieutenant General.

Indian Raids Near Fort Ellis, Montana.

Major N. B. Sweitzer, Second Cavalry, commanding at Fort Ellis, Montana Territory, reports that on the night of July 20th Indians stole a number of horses from the vicinity of the fort. Two companies are in pursuit. The number of Indians in the party was reported from forty to two hundred.

The Geneva Award Commissioners.

The commissioners for the settlement of that portion of the Geneva award provided for just before the adjournment of Congress will reassemble here on the first of October and continue in session during the Winter. All papers and records bearing on the Alabama claims are being prepared at the State Department, and will be turned over to the commission as soon as they reassemble, so that the work of their award may begin at once. They will sit in the Kennedy mansion, lately occupied by Secretary Richardson, which has been hired for the purpose and is now being furnished in handsome style.

The District Bonds.

A good deal of interest is felt here regarding the opinion of the Attorney-General as to whether the district 3-65 bonds, authorized by the last Congress, are payable in coin or currency. The question was submitted to Judge Williams by the President, and it is stated that the opinion was sent to Long Branch several days ago. The Attorney-General declines to give the result until authorized to do so from Long Branch. It is understood, however, that he decides that the bond is a currency and not gold obligation.

FROM NEW YORK.

The Schooner Run Down on the Sound.

NEW YORK, August 12.

The schooner sunk Tuesday morning in the sound by the steamer City of Boston, of the Norwich route, was the Daniel Friel, from Southport, Conn., for Camden, N. J., with a cargo of stone. It is reported the schooner had no lights set. The steamer struck the schooner on the starboard side, about six feet from the stern, sinking her immediately. Capt. Silas Robinson was asleep in the cabin, and went down in the schooner. The mate and steward were saved. The mate states that the regular lights were burning.

The Case of Mayor Havemeyer.

Today Alderman Ottendorfer received a letter from Gov. Dix, addressed to Messrs. Ottendorfer, Kelly and Wickham, signers of the Tammany charges against Mayor Havemeyer, wherein his excellency desires to know whether it is the intent of the committee that he should refer the charges to the proper court for investigation. The committee will not recommend such a course, being of opinion that the mayor's answer in itself settles all doubt as to his guilt, having denied none of the charges. The committee will call on the governor again and demand his removal.

Shameful Mismanagement in the Brooklyn Lunatic Asylum.

Drs. Blanchard and Corey recently appointed to the charge of the Kings County Lunatic Asylum, belonging to Brooklyn upon inspection of the institution Monday and Tuesday, found that the grossest immoralities were practiced, and engineers and workmen being allowed the keys which admitted them night and day to the wards in which women are placed. The kitchen arrangements were filthy and repulsive.

The contractors furnished rotten ham and bad ments of all kinds. No vegetables of any nature were furnished, the poor unfortunate patients, and there was a total lack of discipline, morality and decency. The place might almost as well have been considered a public brothel. Drs. Blanchard and Corey have discharged several of the recent employes and new rules will be enforced.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Donaldson's Balloon.

ELLIOT, Me., Aug. 12.

Prof. Donaldson and his balloon excursion party landed here this morning, breakfasted and proceeded. The party crossed the Merrimac at Saulsbury Point, at 10:50, and the Pisataquis, near Newburg, at 12:30. Their progress after that time was very slow, a dense fog coming up.

Fire In Worcester.—Loss $6,000.

WORCESTER, Mass., August 12.

The Worcester Horse Railroad stables were partially burned at 5 o'clock this morning. Twenty five horses were burned, including two owned privately and a trotting mare worth $1,000 Loss $6,000. Insured as follows: Continental, $4,500, London, $2,500, Pennsylvania, $3,000, Hanover, $2,000, American, $2,000, North American, $3,500, City, $2,500. Total, $20,000

The Outbreak at Austin.—Negroes in Possession of the Town.

MEMPHIS, August 12.

Parties who arrived here by steamer St. Francis, state that the negroes occupied Austin at 2 P. M., yesterday.

The Whites in Possession of the Town. Negroes Organizing to Retake it.

Another special to the Appeal from Helena says Mr. Sebastian, just arrived from Austin, makes the following statement: Between 300 and 400 men from Memphis landed at Shoo Fly, five miles below Austin, this morning and marched into the town without opposition at 3 o'clock. The citizens had abandoned the place the previous evening and the negroes, after holding the place a few hours and sacking it, left for their homes. The Memphians found about thirty negroes in town, who surrendered at once, and eight of whom were arrested and sent to jail. The others, who were non combatants, were not molested. Everything at 9 A. M., when I left, was quiet. At Trotter's Landing, I learned the negroes were organizing for the purpose of retaking Austin, and their pickets were stopping everybody. Col. Campbell, formely Sheriff of De Soto county, Miss., crossed the river here and has gone to Austin to endeavor to restore peace.

Peace Restored and the Troops Disbanded.

The latest reports from Austin state that the troops have been disbanded and gone home and peace is restored.

Two St. Louis women were refused places as drivers on street cars ostensibly because they couldn't manage mules. This was frivolous. They had both been married for years.

"Sad thing to lose your wife," said a friend to a Vermonter who stood at the grave of his wife. "Well, tolerably sad," replied the mourner, "but her clothes just fit my oldest girl."

"O Lord," prayed a Methodist minister, "keep me humble and poor!" "O Lord, if Thou wilt keep him humble," said the deacon who next prayed, "we will see to it that he is kept poor!"

A London advertisement runs thus: "A country priest will say mass once a week for any one who will regularly send him the Times newspaper, second-hand, on the day of its publication."

"Have you got a little Indian there?" said the engineer, as we passed a young squaw with a pappoose, standing at a depot on the Pacific Railroad. "No," said she: "half Injun, half Injuncer!"

An Irishman who was very near-sighted, about to fight a duel, insisted that he should stand six paces nearer to his antagonist than the latter did to him, and that they were both to fire at the same time.

An elderly clergyman of Chicago, when asked the other day why he had never married, replied that he had spent his life in looking for a woman who would refrain from working him a pair of slippers, and he had never found her.

Two Confederate soldiers were talking together, when one asked the other, "Where was you enduring the war?" The other replied, "I was twenty four months in the army, sir." "Yaas, wal, whoy wus you enduring that time?" "I was twenty three months in the hospital." "And whoy was you enduring the other month?" "I was looking for the hospital."

A college professor encouraged his geology class to collect specimens, and one day they deposited a piece of brick, streaked and stained, with their collections, thinking to impose on the doctor. Taking up the specimens the professor remarked, "This is a piece of baryta from the Cheshire mines." Holding up another, "This is a piece of feldspar from the Portland quarries, and this, coming to the brick, "is a piece of impudence from some members of the class."

At a recent prayer meeting of the colored people at Erie, the decency and good order of the meeting being disturbed by a negro named Brown, whose prayers in public were only incoherent ravings, the pastor inquired: "What fool niggar's dat prayin' down dar nea' the do'?" A dozen people replied with one voice: "It am Brudder Brown sah." "Den," replied the pastor, "Brudder Brown subside' and let some one pray dat's better 'quainted wid de Lord."

THE MANUFACTURE OF ICE.—Artificial cold may be produced by the chemist through the use of several agents, some of which have been employed in practical efforts to manufacture ice for use in warm climates. When any substance is changed from a solid to a liquid state, or from, a liquid to a gaseous state, heat is absorbed by it from surrounding substances, and the latter are thereby cooled. Upon this principal all processes for making ice artificially are founded. In the Carre ice machine, which is said to be producing seventy five tons of ice per day in New Orleans at a cost of $3 per ton, liquid ammonia is evaporated, and absorbs so much heat from the water by which it is surrounded that the water is converted into ice. Ether, bisulphide or carbon and other chemicals may be employed for the same purpose. Their use is however, attended with some danger, and has led to an apparatus by which compressed air is allowed to expand, and thus absorb heat from surrounding water. Such machines are in use in Scotland for cooling paraffin. They are said to be capable of making a ton of ice from a ton of coal. The process is, therefore, too expensive for use in the countries which stand most in need of ice machines, for there fuel is either as scarce as ice, or more costly than imported ice. In the use of chemicals there is little waste, as they may be alternately condensed and evaporated, and again condensed and used over again, and the means to freeze water as often as they are evaporated.

ALBERT EDWARD AND HIS WIFE.—The prince of Wales presents the appearance of a stout and amiable middle-aged gentleman, large in the nose and bald-headed. He was in plain citizen's dress, and wore a gorgeous button-hole bouquet. He has been accused of many excesses, but his face is pleasant, and free from the evidence of vicious indulgence. He is a very intelligent and agreeable-looking gentleman, and when one considers the facilities that he has had for being led into temptation, it must be confessed, I think, that he has taken good care of himself. His appearance confirms his reputation here as that of a kindly and clever good fellow. The princess of Wales is the winner of hearts for the royal family. Her pensive beauty has faded but little, and her happy taste in dress and her airy grace excite general admiration. I should have noticed carefully how this fair princess was dressed, but her sister-in-law, the crown princess of England and Germany, came in view with the tall, bronzed soldier, with close-clipped hair and tawney beard, the crown prince, her husband. The contrast between the distinguished couples was strongly marked. The prince and princess of Wales seemed a shade festive. They were smiling and gracious, with, perhaps, one may say, a little of the glitter of the opera of fairy tale. The other couple were serious and plain, clothing dark, features grave, meaning business. A more soberly-dressed and unpretending couple than the future emperor and empress of Germany were not in Dean Stanley's congregation that crowded the ancient abby.—[Murat Halstead's Letters.

HE COULDN'T SPELL.—Among the guests at one of our well known Summer resorts is a wealthy bachelor, whose bank account is much better than his orthography. A party of guests were playing a game where a ball made of a handkerchief is thrown from one to the other with the salutation of "Here comes a ship laden with—each successive receiver being obliged to name a commodity for cargo beginning with the letters of the alphabet in turn. When the handkerchief alighted at the letter K in the bachelor's lap he shouted "Krockery," which excited a smile, and the game hastily proceeded, when it was found that the word was really given in good faith and not as a joke. The cognishness of a young lady, however, caused the flying messenger to alight in his lap a second time at the letter S wherent the receiver shouted "Sinnamon" so triumphantly that, somehow or other there was so much laughing that it was thought best to try another game.—[Commercial Bulletin.

PAIN-KILLER

1840. 1874.

Time Tests the Merits of all Things.

THIRTY YEARS is certainly long enough time to prove the efficacy of any medicine, and that the Pain-Killer is deserving of all its proprietors claim for it, is amply proved by the unparalleled popularity it has attained. It is a sure and effective remedy. It is sold in almost every country in the world, and it needs only to be known to be prized, and its reputation as a Medicine of Great Virtue, is fully and permanently established.—It is the great Family Medicine of the age. Taken internally it cures Dysentery, Cholera, Diarrhœa, Cramp and Pain in the Stomach, Bowel Complaint, Painters' Colic, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, or indigestion, Sudden Colds, Sore Throat and Coughs. Taken Externally, it cures Bruises, Boils, Felons, Cuts, Burns, Scalds, Old Sores, and Sprains, Swellings of the Joints, Toothache, Pain in the Face, Neuralgia and Rheumatism, Chapped Hands, Frost Bitten Feet, &c.

Pain is supposed to be the lot of us poor mortals, as inevitable as death, and liable at any time to come upon us. Therefore, it is important that remedial agents should be at hand to be used on emergency, when we are made to feel the excruciating agony of pain or the depressing influence of disease. Such a remedial exists in Perry Davis' "Pain-Killer," the fame of which has extended over all the earth. Amid the eternal ices of the Polar regions, or beneath the intolerable and burning suns of the tropics its virtues are known and appreciated. And by it suffering humanity has found relief from many of its ills. The effect of the Pain Killer upon the patient, when taken internally in case of Cough, Cold, Bowel Complaint, Cholera, Dysentery, and other affections of the system, has been truly wonderful, and has won for it a name among medical preparations that can never be forgotten. Its success in removing pain, as an external remedy, in cases of Burns, Bruises, Sores and Sprains, Cuts, Stings of insects, &c., and other causes of suffering has secured for it the most prominent position among the medicines of the day. Beware of counterfeits and worthless imitations. Call for Perry Davis' Vegetable Pain-Killer, and take no other.

☞ Sold by all Druggists and Grocers.

To all Whom it may Concern.

DURING the thunderstorm which occurred in this place last Saturday evening, I firmly believe my family had a very narrow escape from instant death. A thunderbolt which will long be remembered by our people, for its alarming power and violence, descended upon my house on Ayrault street. Fully recognizing that higher power which holds our destinies in his keeping, and wishing to do even justice to all, I freely admit that the favorite galvanized lightning rod, which Mr. J. F. Holmes, of Providence, R. I., erected upon my house two years ago, has proved to be worth to me, its weight in gold, as it conducted this terrible bolt to the earth, and has more than confirmed my previous belief in the utility of a good lightning rod, for the protection of life and property.

A. H. PALMER.

Subscribed and sworn to, before me, this 4th day of August, 1874. BENJAMIN MARSH, 2D,

CRUEL.

How the St. Louis Republican Rectors Hoso:

He smole with a smilinity almost approaching a laugh.
Wherefore?
Let us see.
Have you seen the equatorial moon shimmer on the snowy sails of a seventy-four, as she cavorts over the waves by the coast of Greenland's coral strand?
So shone with brightness his new straw hat!
He was happy.
It was open worked.
And so cool.
"Eh bien? Voila tout.
But to destiny there comes a change. Rumbling thunder grumbles in the netrhe firmament and the winds keep pace with the rumblings of the grumblings.
Hoop la!
Where are your chimney-pots and your steamboats now?
They have scooped.
Why?
Because the hurricane piff-paff poohed them into breathless nonenity.
And what of the hat?
The new straw hat?
Gaze aloft.
Like a spectre it vanished through an inky cloud—never expect to see it again.
Who has it?
A ha!
The man in the moon.

* * * * * * *

It is midnight on the bridge.
It is hot!
As blazes!
There are two men on the bridge. A bridge is sentient; it humps its back and cools its toes in the surging waters.
One of them is peck.
The other isn't.
They met by chance.
The man that isn't is preparing to suicide.
To him, Peck!
"Going to jump in?"
The man that wasn't glared on Peck.
Did he speak?
He did; he said "Yes."
"Good thing,—go it. I'll put it in the papers."
"I am the widowed son of an only mother."
"Good again. I'll interview her and work up the agony."
"Life to me is but empty from froth."
"Must be a soda water man."
"To me there is an aching void which cannot be filled."
Have it pulled out.
"I have lost that which was the dearest thing I had."
How much did it cost!
"Trifle not; it soared away in the teeth of the howling hurricane!"
Crazy.
Look! The man that wasn't is on the railing.
He gazes beneathward!
His arms are waving!
Dieu! he falls!
Do the seething waters embrace him?
No.
Why?
He fell t'other way.
Go to—! He was afraid.

Canary Birds.—A writer in the Baltimore American, who has been making a tour of the bird fanciers' establishment in that city, says: "The canary is above all singing birds the most popular. These birds were originally from the Canary Islands, but they were introduced into Europe during the sixteenth century. They were first imported to Italy, and from there spread to the adjoining countries. The German birds are the best singers, and in the Kingdom of Hanover no less than 60,000 are raised annually. There are imported to this country from France and Germany about 60,000 every year. While the German bird fanciers ers have bestowed their whole efforts upon the vocal power of the canary, French fanciers have by judicious breeding greatly increased the size and symmetry of the birds. The German canaries in most cases lose their musical power in about one year after they are imported. The American bred canaries, although not as fine singers, last from five to seven years. It is said that the reason of the success of German fanciers in training their birds is due to their placing their young canaries in cages with larks and other European songsters, from whom the canaries learn many of their most beautiful melodies. Imported birds sell at from $8 to $20. American birds from $5 to $10. The mocking bird is the only rival the canary has. The characteristics are too well known to need comment. The best singers come from Georgia and Florida. They bring from $15 to $20 each. What fanciers consider fine singers are exceedingly scarce not one bird in three hundred being first-class. These fine birds bring $100 and upwards apiece. The nightingale is by fanciers considered the most melodious of all birds. The compass and variety of its voice make it a great favorite in Europe. The bird is found in all European countries, but is by fanciers in this country considered rare. They bring from $25 to $50 each.
